GLORY OF INDIA

काली ट्रवल

"If I were to look over the whole world to find out the country most richly endowed with all the wealth, power and beauty that nature can bestow, I shall point to India. If I were asked under what sky the human mind has fully developed and has found solutions to some of the greatest problems of life, I should point to India. If I were to ask myself from what literature we may draw that corrective which is most wanted in order to make our inner life more comprehensive, more universal, in fact, a more truly human life, again I should point to India."

Max Muller, Anglo-German Orientalist
